

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

THE ROLE OF PRAGMATICS IN SOCIAL COHESION AND NATION BUILDING IN AFRICA

Author: Kofi Agyekum
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Professor
Email address: kagyekum@ug.edu.gh

Bio Statement: Kofi Agyekum is a Professor at the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana. He is the current Dean of the School of Performing Arts, and the former Head of the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana. His areas of interest are Pragmatics, Discourse Analysis, Ethnography of Communication, Language and Culture, Sociolinguistics, Stylistics, Semantics, Translation, Lexicology, Terminology, and Oral and Written literature. He is a renowned Akan scholar and has contributed much to the development of the Akan language. He has won many National awards on Akan language and the media, and language and education.

He has published extensively in various international and local journals, including Legon Journal of Humanities, Research Review, Pragmatics (IPrA), Journal of Anthropological Research, Journal of African Roots, Journal of Pragmatics and Cognition, Issues in Intercultural Communication, among others.

He is also a broadcaster in Akan at Radio Univers, the local University FM Station, and a regular panelist to the Kookurokoo Morning Show on Peace FM in Accra.

DISCURSIVE REPETITIONS AND VOICES IN NIGERIAN CLINICAL MEETINGS

Author: Akin Odebunmi
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ibadan, Nigeria
Current Status: Professor
Email address: papaabnm2@gmail.com

Bio Statement:

Akin Odebunmi is a professor of pragmatics and discourse analysis in the Department of English, University of Ibadan, Nigeria. His papers have appeared in Ibadan Journal of English Studies, Pragmatics, Intercultural Pragmatics, California Linguistic Note, Marang, Review of Cognitive Linguistics, Pragmatics and Society, Pragmatics and Cognition, Multilingua, and Journal of Pragmatics. He is the pioneer and incumbent national president of the Pragmatics Association of Nigeria and the Interim secretary of the African Pragmatics Association headquartered in the University of Legon, Ghana. He is also an editor of Contemporary Journal of African Studies.

SOCIO-ETHNIC STEREOTYPES AND THE REFUSAL OF OFFERS

Author: Eric A. Anchimbe
Institutional Affiliation: University of Bayreuth
Current Status: Associate Professor
Email address: eric.anchimbe@uni-bayreuth.de

Bio Statement: Eric A. Anchimbe is an Associate Professor of English Linguistics at the University of Bayreuth, Germany. His research interests are in postcolonial pragmatics, World Englishes with focus on Africa, sociolinguistics and political discourse. His recent monograph, Offers and Offer Refusals: A Postcolonial Pragmatics Perspective on World Englishes (2019, Benjamins), applies the framework, Postcolonial pragmatics, which he and Dick Janney introduced, to data from two postcolonial societies, Ghana and Cameroon.

A PRAGMATIC ANALYSIS OF HUMOUR IN KOOKUROKOO MORNING SHOW

Author: Victoria Ofori
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: PhD Candidate in Linguistics
Email address: oforivictoria55@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Victoria Ofori is a Graduate Assistant at the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana, Legon. She recently completed her M.Phil. in Linguistics degree and hopes to start her PhD soon. Her areas of interest include Humour Research, Akan Linguistics, Pragmatics and Ethnography of Communication.

Author: Grace Diabah
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Senior Lecturer
Email address: gdiabah@ug.edu.gh

Bio Statement: Grace Diabah is a Senior Lecturer at the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana, Legon. She holds a PhD in Applied Linguistics from the Lancaster University (UK). Her teaching and research focus on language use in specific domains such as business, media etc. She is particularly interested in the interrelationship between language use and the construction of gender identities.

Author: Nana Anima Wiafe Akenten
Institutional Affiliation: University of Education, Ajumako Campus
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: wiafeakenten1@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Nana Anima Wiafe Akenten is a Ghanaian researcher and a lecturer at the Department of Akan-Nzema Education at the University of Education, Ajumako Campus. She holds a PhD in Ghanaian language and her research areas include ethnography of communication, pragmatics, Socio-Linguistics and Akan literature.

Author: Nicholas Obeng Agyekum
Institutional Affiliation: University of Education, Ajumako Campus
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: alakanico@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Nicholas Obeng Agyekum is a Ghanaian researcher and a lecturer at the University of Education Winneba. He is attached to the Department of Akan-Nzema Education and his research areas includes Akan linguistics and Literature.

AN ETHNO-PRAGMATIC ANALYSIS OF HUMOUR IN AKAN DRAUGHTS GAMES

Author: Victoria Ofori
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: PhD Candidate in Linguistics
Email address: oforivictoria55@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Victoria Ofori is a Graduate Assistant at the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana, Legon. She recently completed her M.Phil. in Linguistics degree and hopes to start her PhD soon. Her areas of interest include Humour Research, Akan Linguistics, Pragmatics and Ethnography of Communication.

Author: Grace Diabah
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Senior Lecturer
Email address: gdiabah@ug.edu.gh

Bio Statement: Grace Diabah is a Senior Lecturer at the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana, Legon. She holds a PhD in Applied Linguistics from the Lancaster University (UK). Her teaching and research focus on language use in specific domains such as business, media etc. She is particularly interested in the interrelationship between language use and the construction of gender identities.

Author: Kofi Agyekum
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Professor
Email address: kagyekum@ug.edu.gh

Bio Statement: Kofi Agyekum is a Professor at the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana. He is the current Dean of the School of Performing Arts, and the former Head of the Department of Linguistics, University of Ghana. His areas of interest are Pragmatics, Discourse Analysis, Ethnography of Communication, Language and Culture, Sociolinguistics, Stylistics, Semantics, Translation, Lexicology, Terminology, and Oral and Written literature.

A CROSS-LINGUISTIC STUDY OF BODY PART EXPRESSIONS IN CLASSICAL AND CONTEMPORARY AFRIKAN LANGUAGES

Author: Obádélé Kambon
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Senior Research Fellow, Editor-in-Chief, GJL
Email address: obkambon@ug.edu.gh

Author: Lwanga Songsore
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: PhD Candidate
Email address: sungsongsore@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Lwanga Songsore, a Ph.D. student at the Institute of African Studies, finished an M.A. degree in African Studies at the Institute of African Studies, University of Ghana, Legon where he focused in the disciplinary areas of African History and African Literature. He is currently working as a research assistant to a project running at the Institute of African Studies, University of Ghana.

IDEOLOGICAL POINTS OF VIEW AND TRANSITIVITY SELECTIONS IN A NIGERIAN PRIMARY ELECTION MEMOIR

Author: Akin Tella
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ibadan, Nigeria
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: morakstell@yahoo.ca

Bio Statement: Akin Tella teaches discourse analysis, pragmatics, stylistics and systemic functional linguistics in the Department of English, University of Ibadan. He has had his papers published in reputable journals in these areas.

Currently, he is working on election campaign discourse in Nigeria.

A DISCOURSE PRAGMA-STYLISTIC ANALYSIS OF INVECTIVE EXPRESSIONS IN GHANAIAN POLITICS

Author: Maxwell Mpotsiah
Institutional Affiliation: Baidoo Bonsoe Senior High School, Agona-Nkwanta
Current Status: Tutor
Email address: mpotsiahmax@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Maxwell Mpotsiah is a tutor in the Department of Languages, Baidoo Bonsoe Senior High School, Agona-Nkwanta and teaches English Language and Literature-In-English. He holds Master of Arts in English Language and Bachelor of Education in English Language from University of Education, Winneba. Currently, he is also pursuing Master of Philosophy in English Language from the same university. He has published a few papers in journals of international repute. His area of interest in research includes English Grammar, Stylistics, Pragmatics, World Englishes, Discourse Analysis, Sociolinguistics and Literature.

Author: Charles Ofofu Marfo
Institutional Affiliation: Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology
Current Status: Associate Professor
Email address: cmarfo@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Charles Ofofu Marfo is an Associate Professor at the Department of Language and Communication Sciences, Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi. He has PHD in Linguistics from the University of Hong Kong, China; M.Phil in Theoretical Linguistics from University of Tromsø, Norway and Bachelor of Arts in Linguistics and Philosophy, University of Ghana, Legon. He is currently the Head of Department and the Vice Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences. He is also the President of the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi branch of the University Teachers' Association of Ghana (UTAG), the National President of UTAG, and the immediate past President of Linguistics Association of Ghana (LAG). He has been a visiting scholar/professor to the University of Hong Kong (Centre for African Studies, Department of Linguistics) and Potsdam University (Department of English and American Studies). His area of interest includes Phonology, Morpho-syntax, Literature and Communication and he has, therefore, published extensively in these disciplines over the years.

Author:

Isaac Adjei Forson

Institutional Affiliation:

Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology

Current Status:

Lecturer

Email address:

iadjeiforson@yahoo.com

Bio Statement:

Isaac Adjei Forson is a lecturer at the Department of Language and Communication Sciences, Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi. He has Master of Philosophy in Ghanaian Language Studies, Bachelor of Arts in Linguistics and Archaeology, all from University of Ghana, Legon, A '3' Year Professional Teacher Certificate and currently, a third year PHD Candidate in English at the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi. He has also published a few papers to his credit. His research interest covers Stylistics, Pragmatics, Ethnography of Communication, Language and Media Communication.

Author: Emmanuel Antwi Fordjour
Institutional Affiliation: Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: eafordjour@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Emmanuel Antwi Fordjour is a lecturer at the Department of Language and Communication Sciences, Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi. He holds Master of Philosophy in Ghanaian Language Studies, Bachelor of Arts in French and Linguistics, all from University of Ghana, Legon, Bachelor of Arts in Communication Studies from Ghana Institute of Journalism, Accra, Higher Diploma in Marketing from Kumasi Technical University, National Diploma in French from University of Benin and a third year PHD Candidate in English at the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology with the thesis topic: Translation of Court Jargons into Glossary of Terminologies in Akan. His area of specialisation is Translation from English to Akan and Akan into English. He has published articles in Communication, Court Metalanguage, and A Twi Medical Glossary in Akan and English.

SELF-PRAISE, OTHER-ASSAULT: REPRESENTATIONS IN SELECTED POLITICAL CAMPAIGN SONGS IN SOUTHWESTERN NIGERIA

Author: Ayo Osisanwo
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ibadan, Nigeria
Current Status: Lecturer

Email address: ayosisdelexus@yahoo.com

Bio Statement: Ayo Osisanwo, a lecturer in the Department of English, University of Ibadan, Nigeria, holds a PhD in English from the same Department. He is a Postdoctoral Fellow of the African Humanities Programme (AHP) of the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS), New York, USA, and an AHP-ACLS Doctoral Fellow alumnus at the School of Journalism, Rhodes University, Grahamstown, South-Africa. His research papers have appeared in Discourse and Society, Discourse and Communication, Research in English and Applied Linguistics, Athens Journal of Mass Media and Communication, World Journal of English Language, Journal of Arts and Design Studies, Journal of Linguistic Association of Nigeria, Working Papers: Journal of English Studies, Ibadan Journal of Humanistic Studies, Ibadan Journal of English Studies, Papers in English Linguistics, PEOPLE: International Journal of Social Sciences, Ife Studies in English Linguistics, among others. He has authored some books and co-edited others.

A DISCURSIVE STRATEGIES AND RESISTANCE IDEOLOGIES IN VICTIMS' NARRATIVES IN STELLA DIMOKO KORKUS' DOMESTIC VIOLENCE DIARY

Author: Adetutu Aragbuwa
Institutional Affiliation: Ekiti State University, Nigeria
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: toluwanimi89@gmail.com

Bio Statement: Adetutu Aragbuwa is a Lecturer in the Department of English and Literary Studies, Ekiti State University, Ado

Ekiti. She holds a PhD in English Language from Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife. Her areas of specialisation are Feminist Critical Discourse Analysis and Computer-Mediated Discourse Analysis.

A DISCURSIVE STRATEGIES AND RESISTANCE IDEOLOGIES IN VICTIMS' NARRATIVES IN STELLA DIMOKO KORKUS' DOMESTIC VIOLENCE DIARY

Author: Sopuruchi Christian Aboh
Institutional Affiliation: University of Nigeria, Nsukka, Nigeria
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: sopuruchi.aboh@unn.edu.ng

Bio Statement: Sopuruchi Christian Aboh is of the Department of Linguistics, Igbo and Other Nigerian Languages, University of Nigeria, Nsukka. He bagged B.A. (Linguistics/Igbo) in 2016 and M.A. (Linguistics) in 2019 from the University. Currently, he is a PhD fellow of Discourse Analysis and Pragmatics in the same institution. He has attended both local and international conferences. His current research is: "Ideology of post-truth in Nigerian cities: A discourse historical analysis." He is a member of the Pragmatics Association of Nigeria (PrAN). His research interests lie in sociolinguistics, discourse analysis and pragmatics.

Author: Bestman Odeh
Institutional Affiliation: University of Nigeria, Nsukka, Nigeria
Current Status: Graduate Assistant
Email address: bestman.odeh@unn.edu.ng

Bio Statement: Bestman Esegbuyiota Odeh is a Graduate Assistant in the Department of Linguistics, Igbo and Other Nigerian

Languages. He bagged B.A. (Linguistics) in 2014 and M.A. (Linguistics) in 2019 from the University of Nigeria, Nsukka. Bestman Odeh is a member of the Linguistic Association of Nigeria (LAN). He has published in both local and international journals. His research interests lie in morphology and syntax.

THE COMMUNICATIVE FUNCTIONS OF YAANI ON TANZANIA WHATSAPP PLATFORMS

Author: Sarah Marjie
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: smarjie@ug.edu.gh

Bio Statement: Sarah Marjie holds a PhD in Kiswahili Linguistics from Moi University, Kenya. She is currently a Lecturer as well as doubles as Coordinator at the Kiswahili Section at the Department of Modern Languages, University of Ghana. Her research areas include Language Contact Phenomena (Codeswitching) in Written Communication and Multimodality. She is also interested in Translation, Kiswahili Morpho-syntax and Discourse Analysis.

Author: Felix Kwame Sosoo
Institutional Affiliation: University of Ghana
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: fkososoo@ug.edu.gh

Bio Statement: Felix Kwame Sosoo is currently a Kiswahili Lecturer at the Department of Modern Languages, Kiswahili Section, University of Ghana. He is Ph.D holder in Kiswahili Literature at the University of Dar es Saalam. Felix is currently specialised in Oral and Written Literature as well as Translation. He also has interest in doing further research into African Ontology, Applied Linguistics, Teaching Kiswahili as a Second Language.

A PRAGMATIC VIEW ON CLAUSE LINKAGES IN TOPOSA, AN EASTERN NILOTIC LANGUAGE OF SOUTH SUDAN

Author: Helga Schroeder
Institutional Affiliation: University of Nairobi, Kenya
Current Status: Associate Professor, Guest Editor (GJL 10.1)
Email address: helga_schroeder@sil.org

POLITENESS STRATEGIES AND PRAGMATIC FUNCTIONS IN SELECTED
DOCTOR-PATIENT INTERACTION IN PRIVATE HOSPITAL IN AKURE

Author: David Olorunsogo
Institutional Affiliation: Pan-Atlantic University, Lagos, Nigeria
Current Status: Lecturer
Email address: sogodav@gmail.com
